A short summary about the Project

Living Looms of India (LLI) aims to enhance the livelihoods of 4000 weavers through a clutch of interventions including design development, process innovation and market interventions positioning them in the highest value markets.

Following a “Hub and Spoke” model, ACCESS will establish a business hub in Delhi with expertise and facilities for business development and design interventions, networking, brand development and supply chain management. The spokes will be the various clusters that are promoted.

Interventions in new clusters - Nuapatna (Cuttack, Odisha) and Bankura (Bishnupur, West Bengal):

Establishment of Common Facility Centers (CFC) (2) and Yarn Bank

Design and Product Development

Design development training

Entrepreneurship Development

Business literacy, Financial literacy and Digital literacy program

Strengthening LLI Producer Company

Sustainable Market Linkages

Facilitating access to entitlements

Interventions planned for Kota and Maheshwar:

In Kota and Maheshwar, in the second phase, the project will continue intensive engagement with 250 weavers from each cluster (total 500), and add 1000 weavers for indirect support from each cluster (total 2000). The major interventions for these clusters will be: Providing Market linkages to the weavers, Operationalization of the LLI e-commerce portal, strengthen Governance of the LLI Producer Company, and facilitating access to government entitlements.

Eco-system level interventions:

Along with the cluster level interventions, LLI will take leadership role at national level promoting the cause of weavers and the handloom sector as a whole. For this, a slew of activities will be undertaken, prominent among them are: State of India's Handloom Report and a National Handloom Colloquium.
